Noncomm Triple A's

E-Town is another important nationally syndicated show for Triple A radio, and it is much more than a weekly one-hour radio program. It is a hot-ticket, "live to tape" concert event and an information source about environmental issues. E-Town, in concert and on the radio, is a hip and contemporary version of A Prairie Home Companion.

E-Town has notable carriage on both commercial and noncommercial stations. According to our research, it airs on 44.4% of the 27 Level One and Two noncommercial stations and is carried by 36.2% of commercial Triple A stations.

Hosted and produced by Nick and Helen Forster, E-Town has presented live performances by many of Triple A's best artists, and it has showcased such heritage musicians as Charlie Musselwhite, J.J. Cale, Joan Armatrading and Odetta. Performers frequently share the stage with Nick or Helen for collaborations that are so emotional and sincere even the most skeptical hearts are melted.

E-Town is also a stunning financial success. In 2001, according to its IRS Form 990, the corporation claimed revenue of over $850,000, including box-office receipts of about $200,000. Its current national sponsors include Ben & Jerry's, Toyota, Whole Foods Market and White Wave, one of the world's leading soy foods manufacturers. This level of corporate support is remarkable in nonprofit radio programming.

If E-Town has a downside, it is that most of the program's carriage is during fringe weekend hours. But it nonetheless has a sizable weekly cume of 500,000. For more information, log onto www.ETown.org.

Ken Mills operates the Ken Mills Agency. Based in Minneapolis, KMA develops, markets and assesses carriage for public radio programming. Contact Ken Mills at 763-513-9988 or publicradio@hotmail.com.
